

ABIGAIL BRECHT

Age 16 Conneaut High School

Through a desire for social equality, Abigail helped launch the “Suits for School” initiative at Conneaut High School. Wanting no student to feel ashamed or excluded, Abigail started a clothing room filled with formal wear and business attire available to any student with this need, fostering a supportive environment for all of her peers.

As a two-year Student Council president, her ability to inspire, encourage, and effectively collaborate to reach consensus for the greater good is impressive. She is also a member of the Birthday Club, which writes birthday cards to students every month. She was a recipient of the Americanism Award from the American Legion, and has won multiple awards at the Rotary Club of Conneaut Art Show. Abigail volunteers on the audio and video team each week at First Congressional United Church of Christ, is a member of the Church Council and Education Committee, and has hosted historical tours of the church. Having accumulated almost triple the number of required service hours for graduation, Abigail’s commitment to making a difference through a hands-on approach is evident. A key member of the Conneaut High School tennis team, her sportsmanship and competitiveness are on full display, earning her the coveted MVP award as a sophomore. Abigail also challenges herself in the classroom by enrolling in College Credit Plus courses at Kent State University. Through all of her extracurriculars, and heavy course load, she still maintains a 4.0 GPA.
